

Alabama Public Humanities Grants

AHA Grants help promote the understanding of Alabama's history, literature, civics, culture, and more. We fund public humanities programs that connect Alabamians to our past, to the world around us and, ultimately, to each other.

NOTE: AHA's statewide grantmaking has been impacted by recent federal cuts to our budget. We are grateful to currently offer both Mini Grants (up to $2,500) and Major Grants (up to $15,000), but please confirm the latest availabilities and deadlines at alabamahumanities.org/grants.

Project examples

- ~ Lectures and panel discussions
- ~ Cultural festivals and symposia
- ~ Book discussions
- ~ Temporary exhibitions and traveling exhibits
- ~ Teacher workshops
- ~ Oral history projects
- ~ Documentary films
- ~ Podcasts or other digital media

Types of grants

MINI GRANTS

Up to $2,500

Deadline: 1st of each month

Designed for flexibility, Mini Grants feature a simplified application process. Matching funds not required. First-time applicants encouraged to apply!

MAJOR GRANTS

Up to $15,000

Available 3x annually

Major Grants support a broad number of humanities projects statewide. These grants also now fund media projects, including documentary films, podcasts, and other digital media. Cost-share match (1:1) required.

UPCOMING DEADLINES

Major Grants 2027:

1/1/27: Winter draft deadline

2/1/27: Winter deadline

5/1/27: Summer Draft deadline

6/1/27: Summer deadline (tentative)

9/1/27: Fall draft deadline

10/1/27: Fall deadline (tentative)

Get in touch!

Email our grants director:

grust@alabamahumanities.org

Schedule a call:

calendly.com/alabamahumanities

3 keys to a successful grant application

- ~ Active public participation
- ~ Strong humanities content
- ~ Direct involvement of scholars

Fund your next humanities program:
alabamahumanities.org/grants

